DONATION AND MEMORIAL POLICY

The Mount Pleasant Public Library receives donations. Due to physical space limitations, the library can only accept approximately 20 books (or about one box) per person at any given time. Donated books will be added to the collection if found fit; otherwise, they will be added to the library book sale. Encyclopedias, dictionaries, textbooks, and magazines are discouraged because they often contain dated information. The library may recommend to the patron a different facility for these materials.

The library also processes memorial books. The library will work with the donor to find an acceptable title for the deceased. A bookplate will be set inside the material. Weeded memorial books will not be put onto the book sale.
